Troop Report – Green

What's it like being green?

A message from troop leader Tim:

"It ain't easy being green. Often we are quite envious of other troops. You wouldn't BE-LEAF the things that we have to put up with in green. To create our tables we had to put many a PLANK-TON."

Clearly, being in green troop is a challenge. However, we're sure that this is nothing that the members of green troop can't handle.

ACTIVITIES REPORT—DAY 2

Day two of camp was in full swing with all scouts, guides and guests roaming to and from all bases from Antarctica to South America. International travel was busy as all bases were packed full of fun and excitement run by the venturers all the way from Mexico. The many activities this year range from abseiling to team challenges and the famous water base. With so many activities there is always something to keep entertained with. Don't just take our word for it, Emma, a guest from Grey troop says "The sensory game from Europe was my favourite".

Patrols came together to complete all their activities with enthusiasm and had an awesome time. The patrols' guests were shown how to make nachos and had a blast with taco shell fights. This is what Agoonoree is all about. We look forward to seeing how much fun the scouts, guides and guests have over the next few days of activities.

Catch of the Day

RC has been given a camp wide game to play where they must tag one person with a certain object, in a particular place to knock that person out of the game. How will this game affect friendships, relationships and the lives of all rovers? Rovers, share your best tag with the Agoonoram team for a mention in the next addition. Points for creativity and style will be mentioned and shared with everyone on camp. Don't miss out on being the new golden boy or girl of 2018's Goonie.

Sightings of the Uni-Snake in NZ

Written by Camel Patrol

Scientists have recently discovered that the so called extinct Uni-Snake dwell in certain places in New Zealand. They have been sighted near mountains close by Auckland. They have been described as long and rainbow scaled with dark green horns. They have been rumoured to have solid gold teeth for which man hunters have begun searching for them. We plead for legal protection for these animals. They are harmless and only attack mice, rabbits and small cows. If you sight one, contact Grey Troop immediately .

If your patrol has an interesting story come tell us at the Agoonoram desk across from admin!

RIDDLE OF THE DAY

What's nowhere, but everywhere, except for where something is?

Find out the answer tomorrow!

RUMOUR HAS IT?

Us humans on the Agoonoram team are most definitely human and not reptilian...

Mark from VC and Brayden from RC are two sides of the same coin...

A special strawberry delivery was made to camp—and they've been scanned by a metal detector.

DAILY JOKE

What do you call a man with a rubber toe?

Roberto.

VIPs, Officials and Sponsors

Yesterday, an afternoon tea was held for all the participating VIPs, sponsors, officials and long-term service members. If it wasn't for these supporters, Agoonoree as we know it would not be the same. All these sponsors provide the funding and donations to run our camp each and every year and thus the camp is so affordable to campers. We at the Agoonoram would also like to thank all volunteers and helpers that have given up their time to make this camp as awesome as it is and for helping make this year the best yet.

This year Agoonoree recognises the following for their service:

10 years

Helena Hateley
Eliza White
Harley Miles
Alex Mogg

20 years

Shaun Sandilands

35 years

Melita Goff

15 years
